

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

If the F.C.C. doesn't feel an obligation to try to protect and uphold its own standards, then what on earth do we need the F.C.C. for? Stations (TV & radio) will sell out to the highest bidder, and the highest bidder will consistently be the largest. There's only so much space on the dial, please allow the public a little bit of it!
